I got this for English as a Second Language practice, but was quickly disappointed to find that the cards are insufficient in supporting grammar. For example, when building present tense sentences that are in 3rd person, there is no appropriate verb "she says/speaks/eats." The cards, therefore, only reinforce sentence building like "She eat food." More surprisingly, the cards don't have enough duplicates for playing with two children. There is only 1--I repeat ONE--capital "I" card, but there are 2 exclamation marks, as if you need more of those than simple personal pronouns? The kids I play this with really want to build story sentences, but this box, even with 250 words, misses the mark occasionally. And I am very hesitant about it reinforcing all the grammar I spent hours teaching.

My daughter loves these. She's 3 and we have fun putting together sentences. This set has helped her to recognize more words. Great product for parents and teachers alike. Highly recommend this for parents of toddlers heading to pre-k or kindergarten.

Arrived new and undamaged. It says it comes with a book but I would call it a 3 page very small black and white pamphlet and not a book. I hope this helps with sentence structure. Thank you

Students are able to develop sentences without having to use eraser, pencil, and paper. Great for teaching how to lengthen a sentence. I bought this plus the box with pictures.

There are a lot of words, but there is not enough variety---no plural nouns, for example. I guess this is for very young students, before they get very far in the process.
