Customer Reviews

I love it! I've been using the FlyLady calendar for as long as I can remember, but wanted something different this year. I was worried about the size of the date squares, but they're just about the same size as my old calendar - perfect! I like the added space for dinner menus and all the extra areas for monthly tips and reminders. The only thing that would make this better would be a pocket in back for things like calendar stickers, school schedules, etc. Otherwise, perfect!

This will be the 4th year I've bought this wall calendar to use. I hang it up in our kitchen. I use it in conjunction with an on-line google calendar. The reason why I keep both is that when sitters come over they check the calendar to double check their schedules, the kids can see what is going on, and I can do a quick glance when on the phone making an appointment without having to look at my phone or the computer. This has tons of writing space, tips to help keep house/family organized, and is just an excellent calendar. I am a very happy customer!

The only calendar I buy. Huge so everyone can read what is going on! Two suggestions: The hanging holes break and need better reinforcement, maybe a strip on the edge? I wish there was pretty pictures or sayings on the pages.

I'm not normally super great at writing out our schedule because I'm pretty good at keeping it all straight in my head. But with a large family, my kids getting older and life getting busier all the time, I decided I need to get more organized and have our schedule written out for my husband and kids to see. I got this calendar and loved it right away, and went straight to work writing down everything for August (WHOA, it was a lot). Felt so organized, flipped the page to start filling things out for September, and came to find that the fine-tipped Sharpie I had used was showing through from the page before, and bled through somewhat! My August calendar looked so nice and tidy, but September looks all muddled before I even started filling it out. I was so bummed...I love my Sharpies! But they won't work for this. I wish the pages were thicker for that reason, or that it was made of that regular calendar paper that's glossy and slick, where writing doesn't bleed through. I've always used Sharpies on my regular old wall calendars and never had this problem. This calendar is made with basically slightly-thicker-than normal regular paper (not cardstock quality though). That's the only drawback for me. Otherwise I love the calendar!

Pros: I love the size of this calendar. Each month spans across two pages. I also love that there are recommended projects for each month that help me organize better. So much room to write and organize our lives. Cons: I wish the paper was a little thicker. I use gel pens and pencil on this. I am afraid to use my fine tip sharpie because it will bleed through the paper. We know using sharpies or brighter color markers helps everyone read a calendar better. :) A couple of months end with just two days in a new week. In that case, the two days are wrapped into half the size of the previous days Sunday and Monday, effectively making both weeks Sunday and Monday notes half the size of the normal box.

I've been using this brand of calendar for several years. As a family of 6 I need a lot of space to write appointments, practice/game schedules, and after school activities. I have never ran out of room as the boxes are big enough to fit everything with plenty of lines. I like the tear off To-Do lists, and I especially like the separate section at the bottom of each day to write down dinners. I only wish the stickers had a bit more variety, less meeting, travel, and half day stickers, and more for dentist, important, and School Event. Would be nice to have a first day of school sticker and a last day of school. That is just a little picky on my part.

Great quality. I can pencil in dates and erase without making a big mess. They used good quality paper and the layout works for our family. It's easy to keep track of our dates/appointments. I love this calendar!

I buy this family calendar every year; it has worked SO well for our family. We keep it on the fridge and it has room for all sorts of notes. I also love that it has the stickers to highlight important/special dates that need to be flagged. Thanks for a great product!
